

6 Points to Starting a JRCLS Women in the Law Section

- 1. Begin with a diverse executive committee
  - a. Get a member on executive committee from the sustaining chapter if you can
  - b. Try to have members represent different types of practices and those not currently practicing
  - c. Try to have members represent different personal situations
- 2. Set goals and objectives
- 3. Create a list of potential members
  - a. Ask sustaining chapter for its list and also any other women they know of who might be interested in WIL
  - b. Have executive members assigned to contact or follow up with each member on list
- 4. Limit the number of events
  - a. For example, have two a year: a luncheon with CLE credit and a service project
- 5. Hang in there
- 6. Help people feel welcome, wanted and safe
